protocols, will be responsible for full provincial certification, and is motivated to prescribe and fit hearing aids as well as introduce other treatments including TRT, auditory training and more as directed by and in collaboration with clinical leadership. The successful candidate is self-motivated and independent with the ability to network with physicians and services in the community and do some local out-reach to promote the clinic. Experience is an asset. The clinician will be flexible with schedules to accommodate the late shifts of some patients working in the field. Compensation to be discussed with successful applicants, please submit your salary expectations with a cover letter, CV and transcripts with a minimum of two industry-related references to apply.
