

Vancouver Island, BC

Are you looking to take the next step in your career? Island Health is hiring a Senior Audiologist to join their Public Health team in Courtenay, BC.

With a family-centered focus, you will work as part of a team of audiologists and audiometric technicians to provide comprehensive audiological and amplification services, including diagnostics and treatment, with specialization in paediatric and special populations. As part of the multidisciplinary team, you will work in cooperation with other professionals, agencies, community members and groups to address hearing related needs of individuals, families and the community.

In addition to the role listed above, responsibilities include:

- planning, implementing and evaluating the Audiology Program
- recruiting and supervising clinical staff including audiologists, audiometric technicians and hearing screeners at multiple sites
- manage the Hearing Aid Dispensing Program and associated inventory
- monitor expenditures within the program budget.

Qualifications

Along with your Master's Degree in Audiology, you are registered with (or eligible) the College of Speech and Hearing Health Professionals of British Columbia (CSHHPBC). Your experience includes community audiology, paediatric audiology and experience in the selection, evaluation and fitting of hearing aids and Assistive Listening Devices (including FM equipment). Travel between multiple sites may be required. This position requires related supervisory experience.
